Another Growl

There is a writer for the New York Tribune at present sojourning In Newport, who is evidently suffering from laid diges tion, on which the bivaling waters" of this locality do not appear to have a very beneficial effect-ludeed, so apparent is this, that were it not so late in the senson, we would advise a change to the waters of Saratoga. He or she-for the tone is very much like that of the femenine genderseems to be laboring under a species of monamania which leads her to abuse everybody and everything, in N-wport. In two letters voluminous which appeared in last Saturday's Tribune, dated Newport August 29 and Sept. 2, she raps the knackles of the various members of the Operatic corps sojourning here, in reference to their performance in a late Concert; and views with joundleed eyes the guests at the various Balis that have been given the present season, of whom she says,-

"It amazed me with the appearance of painted women, and what I saw, as well as what I have heard confirms the suspicion that cosmetics are growing into use and favor with our country-wemen. Their very sain, he hithert particular to the form when navir with our country-wennen. Their very rarity has hitherto protected the few who have employed thent but there has been a change in this respect, and unless I was dreaming and not awake, I saw at the bail a good deal of white and red which were not (I nature's coloring. How women can in agine that a mask of powder, white lead, and segment as any improve way carrier. is agine that a mask of powder, white man, and carmi in can improve any one's apprarance, is a thing beyond comprehension. Ugly, unclear atherings, hateful to an housest heart, and rainous to any skin good or bad! Co home, you painted ones! Don't tell any more lies about your complexion, the reach of everybody tell any more lies about your complexion; such are within the reach of everybody who has half-a-dollae to spare and no principle. You are fond of saying, with a deprecating air. "People say I point." Indeed they do, and no one knows how true it is letter than yourself. Go, wash your faces, and apply at lie same time a little moral cleansing to the heart and conscience. It is a cowardly thing to fight or sail under lake colors, and it a man could be taken in by a painted check he would be taken in by a painted check, he would have a right to smite it alterward, for its deception. There are now vie snaps, that give the compression an unatural clearness and brilliancy; applied to the moss, sallow skin, they bring it out in red and white and leave it icy cold. Vile women go skin, they bring it out in red and white, and leave it icy cold. Vile women go about recommending, this alluring cosmetic, and the anotheoary sells it, "his noverty but not his will" consenting. Item the has the handsomest shop in town, and a branch establishment elsewhere."

There is caustic for you.

But she does not stop here. In the very next dush of the pen she characterizes the late Re-union celebration here as "sufficiently tiresome" We extract again, in or der that our readers may observe that the writer is evidently laboring under the the difficulty of a "sour stomach :"

"The town was indeed gray with flags, wreaths and inscriptions—the housers hesing of the mes multilarious description.—One bore the triple crown and keys of the Homan States—the stars and stripes were everywhere, interspersed with other and less familiar ratheraby." There were everywhere, intrispersed with other and less familiar patchworks. There was a tolerable procession, followed by dinner and speeches in a tent. The entertainment was, no doubt, copious; but we had the satisfaction of sceing one of the convives satisfaction of seeing one of the combless dine very heartily afterward on boiled chicken and potatoes, which would scarcely have been possible, had he eaten the lood of the gods half an hour before. The returned sons and daughters of Newport, no doubt, enjoyed many satisfactions; but, you know, family parties are always call, Aiter dinner came, by particular desire, the favorite farce of the Antiques and Horribles, familiar to Bostonian crees from its the favorite farce of the Antiques and Hor-ribles, familiar to Bostonian eves from its annual occurrence. It consists of a string of people, dressed mostly in rags, some on fost, some in ghostly and dilapidate I vehi-cles, marching along to the sound of tin horus, penny trumpets, and a few brass in-struments. braved, not played upon. The struments, brayed, not played upon. The chief leatures of the procession are enermous hoops, bonnets a raid deep, hideous masks, and rimless hats. Somehaw, it is not very funny to the spectators, though the performers netually grin and shiver masks, and rimless hats. with enjoyment of their own humor. It is a Carnival, with Italian wit and grace left out. It confirms the great Wordsworthian hypothesis :
"The boy is father to the man."

And certainly, on these eccasions, the man seems to be the greater look of the two.—As 1 have called the Horribles a meno Carnival, so may I term the Newport lesti-val a very mild Fourth of July.

Perhaps it was not very funny to spectators; but somehow those same "spectators" chased the Horribles from corner to corner, and at each meeting seemed to find that which caused them to laugh till the tears ran down their checks,

Warming up, as it were, with her subject, she is off again in another direction, dips her pen in gall and goes ahead : tips nor pen in gait and goes ahead:

"Was there not a sack-race the other day, in view of the Bellevie and Fillmore houses? Some four or five men, tied each fin a sack, ran a short race for a prize of five dallars. Each had with him a second, not in a beg, to pick him up between the number of periods to timber attendant upon the simplifier. The attendance was instingting. his situation. The attendance was highly respectance, and the performance steel as gratify the best feelings of those who wit-nessed it. This characteristic amusement

As it is, such things seem generally get up to show off hand-one women and hand-tome, dresses, which in themselves do not constitute pictures. You, madame, are undoubtedly a very fine-looking woman, and that best pink moire of yours is a very fine dress, becoming also. The lace is superb lace, the discrouds are real diamonds, and the nowdered we goes well with both pero tace, the convocats are real damonds, and the nowdered wig goes well with both, but an artist who should paint you thus would call his work a portrait, not a picture, for it would express nothing, suggest a thing, but a lady in her best looks, with

In this strain she goes on and discharges her arrows of sutire at every feature of the exhibition, finding nothing that is praiseworthy in the whole, and closes up with the following:

"But wag on, thou foolish old world, in thine own way. We shall not long rebuke thee, for the season and our letters draw thee, for the season and our letters draw near their close. The summer is passing away. Ehen! how many Summers, and how many good trings are gone with them. Must we see the last of this one too?—Well, TRIBONE, let us take courage, and sand by each other till all is over, when I shall return to solitude and the Roman Emperors, and you to the beiaboring of all Democratic candidates, and a general putting down of sin." ting down of sin."

Our readers, after perusing the above, will agree with us that it is an act of cruelty againer of the place on the part of those to an individual of so refined a nature, that who have only themselves to blame." that she should be compelled to mingle, it even for a season, in society so frivolous as she deems that of Newport to be; and will rejoice at the announcement of her intention to "return to the solitude of the Roman Emperors," which she will doubtless find much more congenial to her feelings than that of degenerate Newport.

Focul Jucts and Gossip.

Mr. Ebtron Will you, or if you cannot, will our worthy Mayor, who is at the head of our quaruntine regulations, inform us why the brig Beaver, which came in here last week from Turks Island with a load of salt to wait orders, is detained in quarantine and all communication between her and the shore interdicted, except through the Health Officer? What epidemi disease prevails on board the vessel, or at the port from which the came? Or what is there in the nature of her cargo that would be likely to engender disease? It strikes me, Sir, nor am I nione to my views in this matter, that the manner in which our Quantutine laws are being taken advantage o. to satisfy private ends, is likely to prove detrimental to the inests of our city as a harbor part for vessels.

THE officers and members of the Grand Lodge of the I. O. of O. F., of the State of Rhode Island, take this method to tender their hearty thanks to the Committee of Arrangements for the recent "Re-minor" at Newport, and to the citizens generally, for the liberality and good will manifested toward our fraternity on that interesting occasion.

To Rhode Island Lodge No. 12, of New-port, we acknowledge nurselves under special obligations, for the comfortable accommoda-tions afforded ourselves and families, in the free use of Music Hall, and for the sumplu-ous and beautiful provision made for our physical wants, with tables well filled from the time of our arrival until our departure, without stint or measure. Our wives and children also will long remember your gene restly. To Rhode Island Lodge No. 12, of New Tistry.

If the city of Providence, next scason, should follow the example so auspicintisty inaugurated by Newport, (a. it is to be hared they will.) and cail for a 'Re-union' of the Sons and Daughters of the State of Rhode Island, re will then cheerfully reciprocate your liberalty and kindness toward us.

SOLE IMPORTERS, No. 338 Broadway, N. Y.

This DELICIOUS TONIC

especially designed for the use of the Medical Profession and the Family, possesses those intrinsic medicinal properties (Tonic and Diaretic) which belong to an Old and PURE GIN. The business of manufacturing spurious gins, and offering them as beverages, under the titles, "Aromatic,"--" Cordial,"-" Medicated," etc., has become so common, that the publie are justly suspicious of nearly everything that is offered under similar forms, and the trade has thus been brought into disrepute It has remained for our house (established in 1778) to supply the pressing popular need, and to inaugurate a new era in the history of the Trade. We trust that our established reputation --- founded upon eighty years of experience - abundantly vindicates our claim to public confidence.

A comparison of "Bininger's Old London Dock Glu" with others bearing similar names, will establish its superiority, and make other Caution unnecessary.
